In regards to your letter dated 6/19/2000 case number 99-42056: I am not conversant with paperwork connected to bankruptcy filings, but it would appear from the wording of the aforementioned Trustees Objection to Claim and Notice that this is notice that my claim is "secured" and as such does not qualified to receive disbursement . Is that interpretation correct?

I agree that the note between Clyde Hale and Ray Carroll is a secured note and paid by Mr. Hale directly to me, and that as long as my note is secured by property Mr. Hale retains, I have no claim on funds administered by the Bankruptcy Trustee.

Please advise.

Sincerely,

Ray Carroll
