Paul Grewal

Paul Grewal is Vice President and Deputy General Counsel at Facebook, where he leads the company's global litigation team. Before joining Facebook, he served as a United States Magistrate Judge for the Northern District of California after spending more than a decade in private practice. Paul is a graduate of MIT and the University of Chicago Law School.