

Your Partnership with U.S. Probation

- The U.S. Probation and Pretrial Office is a direct point of contact and will provide continuous support by intervening if problems arise.
- Individuals are guided to seek appropriate employment in areas where interest and abilities meet the work requirements; thus, improving the likelihood of job retention.
- Employment reduces offending behavior, creating safer communities.
- Employed defendants and offenders become tax-paying citizens.
- Many individuals under supervision must maintain employment and submit to random drug and/or alcohol testing as a condition of supervision.
- We are engaged with many community partners who can provide wrap-around services to those who are ready and motivated to change.
- Defendants and offenders are regularly monitored in the community and at home.
- Barriers to successful employment (i.e. substance abuse, mental health issues, etc.) are identified and minimized through treatment and close monitoring.
